Mental Health Professionals Master File Profile:

Mental health professionals evaluate and help treat mental and behavioral disorders. Some counselors help people cope with stressful life events such as relationship problems, divorce, physical illness or the loss of a loved one. Others may help people manage substance abuse, depression, or mental illnesses such as bipolar disorder. Mental disorders are common with over 20% of Americans suffering some form of mental illness each year. Many people are now recognizing the need to be both mentally and physically healthy to achieve a satisfying life.
