Geriatric & Senior Healthcare Professionals Master File Profile:

Geriatric care encompasses a wide range of services for senior citizens. This includes both medical and psychological care along with various social services. Geriatric medical professionals treat diseases and disabilities that affect older people. Most elderly people want to live independent lives for as long as possible. As aging progresses, elder care services such as home care, nursing homes or hospice provide additional options for care. Geriatric professionals aid in improving quality of life and help the elderly meet their long term care needs during the later stages of life.
